The Main Street

The Main Street is not just a name for a duo or a road through Franklin, Tennessee, but rather a lively example of chasing your dreams and being proud of not just who you are, but where you've come from. Sam and Mitchell are creating a sound that hasn't been heard before, by singing genuinely from the heart, soul, and real life experiences. Filling Franklin with their music has created a personal bond with the streets and those who walk them. The most magical moments in their music have come from their acoustic guitars echoing off the historical bricks and their harmonies resonating down the city sidewalks, which the town will never forget.
